

Barbara Smith

I moved to Midhurst in 2020 having spent the previous 70 years living in and around Kent.

However, I have become familiar and very impressed with Graffham and Duncton schools and the nursery over time, as my daughter and her family live in Duncton and both my grandchildren have been in the school since beginning in the nursery and now I have one in each school.

On the personal side, I have a Masters degree in Security Management and Risk Analysis and worked as a civil servant based in London and Kent. I served as a Kent magistrate for 23 years prior to retirement, specialising in the Youth Courts work.

My late husband was the parish priest in a very deprived part of north Kent for 12 years and then became Chaplain to Bishop Michael Nazir Ali until our retirement in 2010.

I have nothing but praise for what I see happening in both the schools and am more than willing to help that image continue and expand accordingly.
